

Dear Sir/Madam,

I am writing to discourage the proposed build of houses on Morton way. This is a lovely rural part of the town and is where it naturally finishes. There are some lovely fields and meadows in that area where I walk my dog. There are no shops or facilities in that part of Thornbury and the town is a fair walk away. Also there is already a problem with schools in the area. If I wanted to live in a huge built up area I would live in Bristol where there is far more to do to balance the disadvantage of being in an urban area. Also who is actually going to be able to afford to buy new houses there. Most young people cannot get a mortgage which would mean an already ageing population would become even larger.

Thank you

IRIS SWANSTON
