I write with regard to the above.

As i understand it Thornbury is already taking it's share as per the plan developed over 4 years.It's debatable whether the infrastructure can support this,it's certain it won't support more added at the last minute (by councillors not from Thornbury!).The town would lose it's character as a market town and set off down the path to new-town status - S Glos has these towns,it does'nt need more.

Our councillors,MP and residents are all against the plan.Democracy would see this overturned- they all cannot be wrong!
