Dear Madam,
I wish to object to the extra building of houses recently proposed for Thornbury.
10 houses are an awful lot for our small town to absorb, to let even more in our area will ruin the town, the countryside and the atmosphere we have.
Lots of people in Thornbury work very hard voluntarily to keep the social life of the town pleasant and enjoyable

The amount of building proposed will turn our lovely town into a nondescript dormitory suburb.

Surely all the building proposed at Tilton and Frentham, etc will provide enough homes in our area. These developments will be the beginnings of new towns, like Bradley Stoke. This has now become a lively sociable place in its own right, it took almost 20 years, but this is probably what will happen to Tilton eventually. Whereas extra houses in Thornbury does not necessarily mean more footfall in the town.

Please reconsider, don't spoil our lovely country town.

Sincerely

(Mrs)
