Dear Ms Thorne,

No more houses should be built in Thornbury on Morton Way for the following reason:

Whenever I depart for Bristol after 07:00 there is a continuous traffic queue from the outskirts of Thornbury all the way into Bristol. The A38 road is quite incapable of carrying the commuter traffic from Thornbury already, without additional housing increasing it further. Traffic lights have been installed on the A38 for a housing development on the outskirts of Bristol, but few houses have been built there. New houses should be built close to Bristol to minimise the commuter traffic and not far from the city in Thornbury.

Regards,

Andrew R Grun
