- Barrington Green is a large open green, space: it is well maintained by the Council and benefits the residents through the provision of facilities including children's well equipped play spaces and also free standing play equipment situated at various points on the Green.
 - There are well established trees and fairly recently planted new trees.
 - Wooden sculptures add interest and visual variety to the grassed area which is well maintained
 - Barrington Green is large enough to have "shows" of various kinds i.e dog shows
 - The nearby Kingsmeadow Flat that is within one of the blocks of flats surrounding the area gives an added impetus to events such as education classes and residents' meetings.
 - The Green is overlooked by close proximity housing and residents benefit from the visual effect of a well-looked after green space. Many of the mature trees stand isolated and can be seen to great effect winter and summer. A bicycle "store" has recently been added for use through Kingsmeadow Flat", that encourages use by residents of the bicycles stored there.
 - Small animals and birds exist and it is a welcome wild-life corridor for these in a well-built up urban environment.
 - The Green is part of the rising landscape and adds visual interest to the residents.

- The area is of considerable benefit for various recreational purposes for both young and older people, walkers and those who just sit and chat to neighbours and friends.
- Dog walkers can exercise their dogs freely on the Green
